Should Women Pop?

That women should have equal rights with men concerning proposals of marriage was the stand taken recently at a meeting of the New York City Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. Belle de Rivera, president of the Federation, said that women certainly should have the right to propose as well as men. She said she wondered how women were going to marry if they never had an opportunity.

Speaking on the same subject, Mrs. Dora Lyon, president of the Electric club, said she thought it would be perfectly proper of girls to propose in many cases. She said a rich girl should have the right and that she might go about it in this way:

"Now, my dear, if you would care to marry me I will obtain your parents' consent. I am able to support you in the style your tastes require, and you need not worry about a bank account."

Clean Up.

This is the time of year when a little attention to conditions in and around the home and premises brings in its returns, says an exchange. Whether in the city or country, there is plenty of opportunity to better conditions. Look after your cellar and see that it is in good sanitary condition. Look after the ash piles and rubbish heaps in the alleys and back yards. Don't let the weeds get a start on you. Then above everything else sprinkle the steets in front of your business house and residence a few times daily, and help keep the dust down.

Lawn Mowers, Swings, Hose.

Going Some.

A New York woman, who was arrested for overspeeding, deposited a $5,000 bracelet as collateral. Which, to our mind, is "going some" in more ways than one.

Poor Bill Watts.

Bill Watts died in Chicago the other day from mingled grief and luxury, according to the veterinary surgeon who attended him. Bill Watts was a dog, but he had $20,000 in his own name, inherited from his master, George S. Watts. He was buried in a coffin that cost $50. Bill lived in the interest of his money, and now that he is gone his money will be divided among several charitable institutions. The dog was petted and pampered and had every luxury in the way of food. The pleasure of burying and digging up a bone was denied him, and he was not allowed to associate with other dogs, the common curs. A few days before his death he had a violent brain storm, and required constant watching till he died. Poor Bill Watts!

Epworth League Social.

The Epworth League will hold another one of their enjoyable socials at the Methodist church, Friday night, May 31. Refreshments will be served. Admission 15 cents.

Trestle Gives Way.

Without the slightest warning, a trestle fifty feet high and 250 feet long, spanning a ravine two miles from Flemingsburg collapsed Friday afternoon as the evening train for Hillsboro was in the center of it. The engine and two cars, containing about twenty-five persons, were thrown into the ravine. Two persons were killed, two fatally injured. Many others, in fact every passenger and trainman on the train were more or less bruised and battered.

This was on the narrow gauge that runs from Johnston Station to Flemingsburg.

Buy Yourself a Home.

Let me furnish you a good lot with concrete walk and build you a five-room house, with bath, pantry, porches, closets, coal house, etc., for $1,500. 26-12

Annual Convention Of Christian Endeavors.

The 17th Annual Convention of Kentucky Societies of Christian Endeavors will begin at the Paris Christian church, next Friday evening, and continue over Sunday. The devotional service will begin at 7:45, and be conducted by Rev. Dr. Joseph S. Malone. A quintette will be rendered by Misses Gladys Talbot, Ruth Morgan, Nellie Long, Louise Grinnan and Georgia Rion. At 8:30 the President's address will be delivered by Chas. Hopper, of Cincinnati Springs. Mrs. Owen Davis will sing a solo. At 8:45 Rev. Hugh McLellan, of Richmond, will deliver an address. At the conclusion of the service a reception will be given the visitors and friends in the church parlors by the Woman's Society of the Christian church.

Mrs. Princess Long will be musical director, and Miss Sarah Grinnan organist.

Mr. Fred Wallis, of New York, will deliver an address on Saturday evening.

The Convention will be made up of delegates from all the Protestant churches.

There will be about 200 delegates, and it is hoped that our people will show their usual hospitality in entertaining them. If you can take one or more of delegates leave your name with either one of the following committee: Miss Ollie Butler, Miss Kate Alexander, Mrs. Walter Kenney, Mrs. Watson Judy, Miss Georgia Rion, Miss Margaret Sweeney, Miss Clara Belle O'Neill.

The remainder of the program will be published in next issue.

American Jockey Lives Like Lord

The earnings of Danny Maher, the American jockey, won in England are so large that he maintains a princely residence in Mayfair, the fashionable part of London. He entertains lavishly and enjoys a position of social prominence among sportsmen. His income is from $200,000 to $500,000 a year.

Wrestling Match.

Young Pardello will wrestle Billy Jenkins, of Ohio, at the Paris Grand, tonight, May 14, for $100 a side—catch-as-catch-can, strangle hold barred.

A Peculiar Suit.

William Seeley, according to advices received from the little town of Norwood, N. Y., has sued Rufus Wheeler for $300 damages, alleging that a rope which he bought from Wheeler with which to commit suicide by hanging himself was not strong enough. Seeley alleges that he bought the rope for the express purpose of hanging himself with it, and that when he tried to use it for that purpose it broke and cheated him of attaining his object. Seeley says further that when the rope broke his resolve to kill himself broke with it, and that he has not since then succeeded in screwing his courage up to a point where he could make another attempt upon his life. He is a middle-aged bachelor and miner.

Puts Blame On Street Railway Company.

The sensational confession was brought out Friday afternoon at the Coroner's inquest over the body of Motorman Wells, who was killed in the street-car collision at Lexington, that the street car officials had been notified by the conductor a few minutes before the accident that the brakes were out of order. Notwithstanding this notification, the car later was packed with passengers and permitted to attempt the perilous descent of the Broadway hill. It was shown that Wells was grinding on a worthless brake when he struggled so desperately and sacrificed his life so heroically to save the passengers.

The jury rendered the following verdict:

"We, the jury, find the body before us to be that of George Wells, aged about 25 years, and from the testimony we find that he came to his death on May 9, 1907, in a collision between a Lexington Street Railway car and a C. & O. passenger car at the intersection of Broadway and Water streets."

"We, the jury, further find the said accident was caused by the negligence of the Lexington Street Railway Company in permitting said car to be run with passengers after being notified by the conductor that said car was disabled by defective brakes."

Going To Morehead.

The Pastor's Aid Society of the Christian church will go to Morehead tomorrow, (Wednesday,) to attend the closing exercises at Morehead College. Persons desiring to go can do so at a reduced rate. Train will leave Paris at 8 o'clock, and return about 6:30.

Mistaken For Detective.

Mistaken for a detective and thought to be one of the men who are investigating raids by night, riders in the dark tobacco district, a book agent was set upon by a band of men near Gracey and badly beaten. He was warned to leave the country or he would be killed. He sought protection in the jail.

THE OTHER SIDE.

Prof. Chapman Presents Affidavits and Testimonials to the Board of Education And Is Elected for Three Years.

By a unanimous vote of the Paris Board of Education, Prof. George W. Chapman was Thursday night declared innocent of the charges preferred against him as set forth in a resolution recently passed by the City Council, and Prof. Chapman by the same vote was elected for two years additional to the year already elected, making his term of office three years, expiring June, 1910.

President R. P. Dow, of the School Board, stated that the purpose of the meeting was to hear from Prof. Chapman what corroborative evidence he had to support his claim of innocence.

Prof. Chapman submitted a large number of affidavits and testimonials from Madisonville for the consideration of the Board and the public.

The affidavits were from the President and members of Madisonville Board of Education; from Oriental Lodge, No. 99, I. O. O. F., Madisonville; from Ralph B. Ruben, Superintendent of the Madisonville Public Schools; from the corps of teachers of the same school; from A. L. Jazee and Edward Thompson, members of the grand jury, which refused to indict Prof. Chapman, and from Messrs. J. W. Porter, L. B. Ray, James H. Young, prominent citizens of Madisonville; United States Senator Thomas H. Payne, Congressman Bennett and ex-Lieutenant Governor W. J. Worthington and others.

The documents were read to the Board by Secretary E. H. Owens, and upon motion of Dr. F. L. Lapsley the following resolutions were read, and upon an aye and nay vote, passed unanimously.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

Whereas, there have been rumors circulated in this community casting reflections upon the reputation of Prof. George W. Chapman, Superintendent of Schools, and

Whereas, this Board of Education has requested that anyone knowing, or having information concerning, any act of Prof. Chapman, file his or her charges before this Board for investigation, and

Whereas, instead of this being done, there has been an attempt to further circulate said rumors by the unwarrented and illegal acts of the City Council of Paris, and

Whereas, since this step was taken by the City Council of Paris, there have been filed before this Board affidavits of members of the Board of Education of Madisonville; also divers affidavits of prominent and worthy citizens of said city; also endorsement from Lodge of Odd Fellows of Madisonville under seal of said lodge; and various other endorsements and testimonials, confirming and corroborating the previous report made to this Board by the member sent to investigate.

It is hereby resolved, that it is the sense of this Board that Prof. Geo. W. Chapman is innocent of the charges rumored against him, and that said rumors are false and slanderous, having no foundation in fact, but only the attempt of some enemy, or enemies, to injure his reputation and character, and we condemn such methods as base and unscrupulous and demoralizing in their effect.

Whereas, Prof. Geo. W. Chapman has made an excellent Superintendent of Schools, having faithfully, diligently and impartially discharged his duties as such, and

Whereas, the best interests and discipline of our Public Schools demand that the Superintendent be elected for a longer period than one year.

It is hereby resolved, that Prof. Geo. W. Chapman be elected Superintendent of Paris City Schools for two years more, in addition to the one year already elected, making the full time of his election three years, and that his salary be fixed at the sum of twelve hundred and fifty dollars ($1,250.00) per year.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

Oriental Lodge, No. 99, I. O. O. F., Madisonville, Ky., April 30, 1907.

Dear Sir and Brother.—It affords us pleasure to attest to the good character of Prof. G. W. Chapman, though it pains us to know that he is being pursued, or rather hounded, by some individuals of this town who seem to have it in for him.

Prof. Chapman organized the Madisonville Graded School and it is a well known fact that it has been one of the most successful schools in the State of Kentucky. While here he incurred the ill-will of some of the people who have left no stone unturned to injure him in his calling.

There were some rumors of indiscretion on the part of Prof. Chapman while here. These came to the ears of the Board of Education and an investigation was ordered and public notice given to anyone who might know anything derogatory to his character to be present and make their charges known. One man came, but refused to allow any of his witnesses to be called. The Board of Education, which is composed of six of the leading business men of the town, all, except one, a member of some church, representing the two leading political parties, two of these lawyers, one a doctor, one a merchant, one a banker and one an editor. Not one of whom would willingly shield any man, especially a teacher in wrong doing.

When Prof. Chapman left the town, he was given a strong endorsement by

A Simple Trust Story.

"The interstate commerce commission has been hearing a case in the last few days which is a very simple story. A firm of sellers of oil in Brooklyn were doing a prosperous business. They bought their supply from the Standard Oil company. When the business grew big enough to be worth while to Rockefeller, greed the trust was not content to make its profits on the oil sold to the firm at wholesale; it wanted both its previous profit of wholesale and the little firm's profit of retail. It determined that the firm must get out of the business. It was bound to swallow the whole thing. Note the method, simple as the story:

"A competitor came into the field. The complainants declare that the competing outfit was set up by the trust to kill off the firm which was earning the profits coveted by the Rockefellers. At any rate, the Standard Oil began to raise its wholesale price on the firm sentenced to be exterminated. This forced the victims to raise the retail price or lose money. But the newly arrived competitor did not raise prices, for the reason, the complainants charge, that the wholesale price as not increased on the enterprise which was to drive out the old concern. Obviously the condemned firm must get cheaper oil or go out of business, as the consumers would not pay more to it than to the other for their oil."

"To get cheaper oil the firm which had been marked for slaughter by the Rockefellers went West to an independent producer and made arrangements to ship oil in tank cars. The price was so favorable, the service so satisfactory, the other benefits so striking, that the firm was able to do more business than before. It built up a large trade. It was shipping many tank cars. It not only was holding its former trade, gained when dealing with the trust, but it was taking trade away from the Standard Oil and its agencies. This was considerably more than the trust had bargained for. It had arranged to ruin a retailer by putting up the price of his supply on him here he could not live in competition, but by driving him to an independent source of supply it had shown him how to make more money and how to diminish the business and profits of the trust. This was also to be stopped.

"This firm, now independent and prosperous, found that it could not get the railroads to haul and deliver its tank cars containing the independent oil. The railway agents said the business was too dangerous. The dripping oil might catch fire in the terminals and burn up railroad sheds, trains of freight, whole terminals. There was no telling what damage might not happen to property and lives from hauling these tank cars to oil supplied by independent producers and to be sold by an independent firm in competition with the Rockefellers. The railroads could haul cars of the Standard Oil trust; they could take care of the shipments to dealers in the trust's oil. No great danger here. But not so with the independent producers and handlers. Their oil must not be handled.

"What the independent firm wants the interstate commerce commission to determine is whether the Standard Oil trust has the right to arrange that common carriers shall transport only Standard Oil products. What the firm wants to be informed about is whether the United States Government sanctions conditions whereby when the Standard Oil can't club a dealer to death directly with its own weapon of pipe lines, prices and delivery, it can call on a railroad to club him to death by refusing to handle his cars.

"A very simple story of very simple methods to kill competition and ruin men. A simple story of what is enacted every day in the year everywhere in this country. How long are the people of the United States going to stand it?"

Our tariff angers France, says a standpatter journal, and if it would take off its protection sepctacles it could discover that protecting the trusts angers about sixty millions of the American people.

It is said that Foraker agrees with Boss Cox. Why of course he does, such birds of a feather always flock together.

Futures.

The Wall Street Journal is becoming uneasy. It says: "For centuries the supreme question was how shall the great majority secure liberty and equality of opportunity against the power of the small privileged minority.

The time may come when the problem will be reversed, and when the question shall be how to preserve the rights of the small minority against the power of the great majority. Looking at it from every point of view the tyranny of a despotic majority can be more unjust and do more harm than the tyranny of a despotic minority."

The Journal is looking far into the future for trouble.

So long as the American people provide, in their tariff, shelter for the trusts that oppress them; so long as they give to the national bankers the privilege of loaning the people's money to the people; so long as a handful of men are permitted to control the insurance business of the country and a coterie of "captains of finance" are permitted to manage the transportation business; so long as the trust magnates are allowed to fix the price the producer receives and the price the consumer pays; so long as every agency of man and of government—the farmer's product, the means of transportation, the state legislature, the Congress and all to often the court itself—seems to have been created for the special use and benefit of men who neither toil nor spin, and so long as men who raise a voice in protest against these conditions are discouraged in their good efforts by the failure of their fellows to appreciate their labor, or by the attacks of an ignorant or a venal press—there is not great need for worry concerning "the tyranny of a despotic majority!"

Let the Wall Street Journal direct its attention to the undue power wielded in this country by "the small privileged minority."

Good For The President.

Upon the back of the statement relating to William January's case, President Roosevelt wrote: "I think Anderson's years of life as an honest citizen, hard working and of good repute, warrant us in commuting his sentence at once or in pardoning him outright."

Good for the President! The ends of justice will not be served by keeping this man in prison. According to the testimony of his neighbors, he has reformed and when President Roosevelt surrenders him to his faithful wife and his little daughter, the American people will say "Amen" with practical unanimity.

A Comparison.

The New York Herald does not pose as a humorist, but it at least laid claim in that line, when in a recent issue it said: "Early in the fall one of two twin brothers living in Madison county, Kentucky, became demented and was sent to the insane hospital. The other twin accompanied him to the institution. Shortly after the two brothers arrived the sheriff of Madison county received a telegram from the superintendent, saying: 'Two men who look just alike are from your county—one for confinement. One is talking of building a railroad to the moon and the other says the Republican party is opposed to trusts. Which is the crazy man?'"

Sound Advice.

President Ingalls of the "Big Four" railroad, evidently has seen a great light. He is now giving the railroad managers some advice that should have been given and heeded long years ago. In an address before the Pittsburgh Traffic Club he said: "This is what all railroads must do—submit to the law." Had this been done years ago the railroads would not be complaining so bitterly.

Political Pick-Ups.

The Republican outfit in Ohio seem decided adverse to holding that Presidential primary. One side is afraid and the other side procrastinates, and both sides claim the majority of the State Committee which has the "say so" as to the time for the voting.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says "let us have peace" and immediately begins to fight for it by pitching into Teddy. This Republican organ plays a rather reactionary tune.

Spider Chased a Man.
A story is told by an explorer of a large and fierce South American spider which chases men if they come too near its lurking places. On one occasion he was pursued by one. "Riding at an easy trot over the dry grass," he writes, "I observed a spider—pursuing me, leaping swiftly along and keeping up with my beast. I aimed a blow with my whip, and the point of the lash struck the ground, close to it; when it instantly leaped upon and ran up the lash and was actually within three or four inches of my hand when I flung the whip from me."—London Standard.

THE LIVER QUARANTINE

"TAKING HIS MEALS OUT."

Hurried eating has ruined many a man's stomach. The digestion-destroying process is gradual, often unnoticed at first. But it is only a short time until the liver balks, the digestive organs give way, and almost countless ills assail the man who endeavors to economize time at the expense of his health.

A torpid liver causes a quarantine of the entire system. It locks in the diseased germs and body poisons and affords them full play, inviting some serious illness. In families where August Flower is used, a sluggish liver and constipation are unknown, so are all stomach ailments, as well as indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, headaches and kidney and bladder affections. No well-regulated family should be without this standard remedy.

The Rain In the Woods.

The lamentable effects of the general destruction of forests are now sufficiently recognized in all civilized countries. Such destruction invites devastating floods in mountain streams and causes the surrounding land to dry up. Forests act like vast condensing screens. They preserve a moist atmosphere about them, attenuate the force of torrential downfalls, promote a more gradual melting of the snow in early spring and protect the soil against too rapid evaporation. And yet the manner in which forests act their beneficial part is not exactly such as might be supposed. They prevent a large part of the rain that falls from reaching the soil at all. It is estimated that in European climates the forests evaporate directly or transpire physiologically four-fifths of the rain that falls upon them. Thus the forest atmosphere is no less important than the forest soil in equalizing the climatic conditions of a country.—Youth's Companion.

Tale of a Coat.

The clawhammer, or evening coat, has many oddities of cut. These oddities were once essentials. There was, in fact, a time when every idiosyncrasy of the clawhammer served some useful purpose. The cutaway front of the coat, for instance, was originally cut away so that the wearer when on horseback would not be incommoded. The two buttons at the back were for fastening up the tails out of harm's way, each tail having in the past a buttonhole at its end. The sleeves, with their false cuffs, are relics of the days when sleeves were always turned back and therefore were always made with cuffs that unbuttoned. The collar, with its wide notches, is a survival of the old collar that was notched in order that its wearer could turn it up conveniently in cold or stormy weather. The dress coat, in a word, is a patchwork of relics—relics once essential, but now of no use on earth.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Another Horrible Railroad Wreck.

While hurrying northward over the coast line of the Southern Pacific road Saturday, homeward bound, after a week of fraternizing and feasting in Los Angeles, one hundred and forty-five Shriners of Ismaeli Temple, Buffalo, and Rajah Temple, of Reading, Pa., with their families and friends, were hurled into the midst of death when a special train running fifty miles an hour struck a defective switch at Honda, a lonely station on the sand wastes of the Pacific beach, derailing the train, smashing the coaches into flinders, killing thirty-five almost instantly and injuring more than a score of others.

Preacher Murdered In Carlisle.

Elder W. P. Richards, pastor of the negro Christian church at Henryville, a negro suburb of Carlisle, who was called to his door and shot three times Saturday night, died Sunday evening at 7 o'clock from his injuries.

Jesse Merchant and Edmonia Twymar, the Louisville negroes accused of the crime, must now face the charge of murder. They are in jail at Carlisle.

Richards identified Merchant, who is a pharmacist at Louisville, as the man who shot him, but the Twymar woman declared that she had done the shooting herself. The preacher's actions while on a visit to her boarding house in Louisville some time ago are said to have figured in the tragedy.

As soon as the members of Elder Richard's congregation and the negroes of Henryville heard that Richards had breathed his last threats were made against the murderers.

Inflammatory speeches were made by the negro leaders, and a crowd of negroes formed themselves into a mob and swore that they would take Merchant and the Twymar woman from the jail and lynch them even if they had to tear down the jail to get the assassins.

A demand was made for the delivery of the negroes to the mob, but no attack was made on the jail. When the negroes learned that Sheriff Donnell was prepared to meet them with bullets the mob dispersed.

Kellogg May Be Attorney General

The talk of Secretary Bonaparte's possible resignation from the Department of Justice, has brought forward the name of Frank Kellogg, of St. Paul, as his successor. Kellogg is the lawyer who was chosen by the President to conduct the Harriman investigation, and his work in that case has given the highest satisfaction. He was a member of the law firm of which former Senator Cushman K. Davis was a member. His principal work for the Government has been the prosecution of the Standard Oil trust, the complaint against which will come on for hearing before the United States Circuit Court sitting in full bench at St. Paul some time late this month.

The occasion of the inspection of Paris Chapter No. 15, Friday night by Companion H. B. Grant, of Louisville, Grand Secretary of the Grand Chapter of Kentucky, brought together the largest attendance ever witnessed at a like event.

After inspecting the books and the work of the Chapter, Companion Grant made a few complimentary remarks about both the keeping of the books and work of the Chapter.

Mr. Grant is one of the most distinguished Masons of Kentucky, and his visit to Paris was one of the most pleasant events in the history of this old chapter, which has borne upon its roll the names of many of Bourbon's representative citizens.

Under this decision Paris could vote again separately if the county should take a vote.

Building And Loan Association Assured For Paris.

There has been a movement on foot for some time to organize a Building and Loan Association here, and we understand that there has been a sufficient amount of stock taken to make it a go.

The promoters are anxious to start with as large a number of prospective borrowers as possible. If you or any of your friends want to borrow money and repay it in small monthly payments be sure and subscribe for stock on the start as you can secure a loan much quicker by so doing.

This company will be composed entirely of home people and will be organized on the perpetual plan. This is a move in the right direction as it will enable a great many people in Paris to own their homes that never can without the aid of such an institution.

We think by encouraging the poor people and those in moderate circumstances to build homes that you can improve the citizenship of the community and we hope that the good people will lend this enterprise their hearty support.

B. B.). Soon all sores heal, aches and pains stop and the blood is made pure and rich. Druggists or by express $1 per large bottle. Sample free by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. B. B. B. especially advised for chronic, deep-seated cases, as it cures after all else fails.

Why the Indians Masked.

"Among the North American Indians the origin of the use of masks lay," says a writer, "in the desire to conceal the emotions. Thus should two warriors meet in combat the mask conceals any expression, whether or sympathy, fear or other emotion. For instance, the knowledge that fear was depicted on one's face and that his antagonist knew it would very possibly insure the defeat of the one whose feelings were betrayed to the other. So in religious ceremonies the orator wears a mask that he may speak his inspired words without interference or embarrassment, either of which might arise were his personality not thus veiled. He must not be overawed by anything, a condition which might ensue if he were recognized by friends, relatives or enemies, who might scoff at him. When masked the orator's duty is merely to listen to the inspiration which comes without effort through the medium of the spirit. And since this inspiration might seize any of the tribe at such times all come masked."

If Men Were Insects.

Out of every five animals in the animal kingdom four are insects, of which there are 200,000 species. In a human world of that sort for every gigantic man there would be four pygmies and of the pygmies 200,000 distinct races. These pygmies would be made up of a head, a middle body and a hind body, each of which would be composed of hard, shell-like rings, and because their bodies were thus divided or insected they might be called insects. Their legs would grow out of either the middle body or the hind body. They would breathe through holes in the middle body and eat, drink, see, smell, with all kinds of apparatus made for the purpose in various and often widely separated parts of the body. If some of these pygmies were young, weighed a pound and ate like a silkworm, they would in two months devour forty-five tons of food. It is scarcely remarkable, therefore, what millions of grasshoppers will do to a cornfield or gypsy moths to an apple orchard.

Polished and Vigorous.

Observing a passenger with the unlighted butt of a cigar in his fingers, the street car conductor requested him to put it out.

"It is out, you chump," responded the passenger.

"Pardon me," resumed the conductor, "if I have failed to make myself clear.

The condition to which I had reference was not one of mere temporary non-combustion, but of elimination, the eradication, I might say, of the physical presence of your nicotine laden remnant, this process followed necessarily by cessation of the odor now permeating an atmosphere already somewhat deficient, I fear, in the essential element of ozone. I'm a humble conductor, and my aim is to please; but, you big porcine stiff, you throw that cigar through the door or I'll throw you and it both. See?"

"Excuse me, professor," replied the passenger meekly, and the incident was closed.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Striking Originality.

"Your husband is not looking well tonight, Mrs. Rhymier."

"He isn't, and I'm not surprised at it."

"No? Has he been overworking himself?"

"It isn't that so much. It's his originality. Why, that man is struck by so many original ideas that his mind must be one mass of bruises."

A Significant Prayer.

len's Arnica Salve known to all,"

A Hard Debt to Pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid off," writes G. S. Clark, of Westfield, Iowa, "for my rescue from death, by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were so seriously affected that death seemed imminent; when I commenced taking New Discovery. The ominous dry, hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used, and two more bottles made a complete cure." Nothing has ever equaled New Discovery for coughs, cold and all throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by Oberdorfer, the druggist. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

He Listened to All.

Fontenelle listened to everything, and he offended no one by disputing anything. At the close of his life he was asked the secret of his success, and he replied that it was by observing two maxims, "Everybody may be right" and "Everything may be so."

The Newborn and the Dead.

Lavater in his "Physiognomy" makes the following curious remarks: "I have had occasion to observe some infants immediately on their births and have found an astonishing resemblance between their profile and those of their father. A few days after this resemblance almost entirely disappeared. The influence of the air and food and probably the change of posture had so altered the design of the face that you could have believed it a different individual. I afterward saw two of these children die, one at six weeks and the other at four years of age, and about twelve hours after their death they immediately recovered the profile which had struck me so much at their birth, only the profile of the dead child was, as might be expected, more strongly marked and more terse than that of the living."

Arranging Chrysanthemums.

In the arrangement of chrysanthemums the Japanese guard against several faults. Their stems must not be of the same length, a single flower must not turn its back or present its full face, the flowers must not be hidden by leaves, or, should they be arranged in the way of steps, a full blown flower should never be placed at the base of the composition, and one odd one must not be allowed to fall between two others alike in color. Three flowers should not appear to form a triangle.

Unfeeling.
"My husband is a brute," said the excitable woman.

"Have you been scolding him?"
"Of course I have."

"Ah, I suppose he talked back and used harsh language."

"Worse than that! He yawned!"

Fiction.
Little Bess — What's fiction, Jack? Small Jack—Pa says it's a story that ends by saying "they married and lived happily ever after."

An unbridled tongue is the worst of diseases.—Euripides.

Ruskin's Opinion of Mrs. Carlyle.

Ruskin spoke with scornful amusement of such mistaken enthusiasts as wished to enrol Jane Welsh Carlyle among the martyrs on account of her "man's" bad temper. He admitted that Carlyle was frequently grumpy and habitually melancholy—"but so am I"—and he was easily irritated. "That clever shrew," his wife, well knew this and by the very tones of her voice as she "rasped out his name" could set his nerves on edge in a paroxysm of febrile irritation.—Scribner's.

Good Day For Rats.

One hundred and twenty-five full-grown dead rats constituted the work of four men and two fox terrier dogs on the farm of A. J. Skillman, on the Cane Ridge Pike. Mr. Skillman had a pen containing about 100 bushels of corn. The pen was constructed out of fence rails, and finding that the corn was being rapidly consumed by the rats, he built another pen close by of the same material, resting on posts three feet high. The men shoveled the corn to the new pen, and removing the floor from the old one, the rats emerged, when the battle of death and destruction began. At the conclusion of the warfare waged upon the vermin, with merriment and dogs exhausted, an inventory showed the above result.

Now Will You Be Quiet?

A number of Kentucky newspapers that are in sympathy with the local option movement have decried the proposed State Law and Order movement as unnecessary and predicted its failure, and now Rev. M. B. Adams, president of the Kentucky Anti-Saloon league, says:

"I do not approve of the convention, because I do not think it necessary. I wrote Mr. Woods, and told him I would not take part in the program. He has, however, seen fit to use my name, with reference to it. This is the psychological time for temperance cranks and we do not wish that class to injure a cause for which we have so long labored."

Mayor Woods, whose hysterical attempt to reply to Mayor O'Bryan, of Owensboro, may now consider himself quelled. Rev. Adams agrees with Mayor O'Bryan. Woods has been officially pronounced a "temperance crank." Now will he subside?—Owensboro Messenger.

Declared Nominees.

The Democratic Committee of Bourbon County met at the court house Saturday afternoon and, it appearing that no candidates were announced for the offices of Representative in the State Legislature and County Clerk in opposition to the Hon. J. Hal Woodford for the former and Pearce Paton for the latter, they were declared the nominees of the Democratic party for their respective offices.

The Model City.

The following special from the model local option city of Danville appeared in the Lexington Gazette of Saturday: "It is rumored that a wholesale cleaning up is going to be made shortly of all the low dives, blind tigers and other questionable resorts with which Danville has been infested for a number of years. Work was begun yesterday by a committee of leading citizens by warning certain parties to absent themselves from the city within twenty-four hours, and it is said, that no let up will be made until all the toughs and petty criminals have shaken the dust of Danville from their feet and their joints have been closed."
